The problem with these types of devices is that in most cases, they are bulky, heavy and do not permit the attachment of items that are located a distance from the fence. In prior patent applications by the same inventor, U.S. Ser. No. 13/470,003, filed on Feb. 6, 2012, a tool is described having a pair of rigid prongs in the form of a C-shaped hook that attaches to a section of fence. The
